

Become a Member of the Western Region of the National Speleological Society

The Western Region of the National Speleological Society promotes cave conservation, scientific study, and recreational use of caves; establishes solid landowner relationships; provides research and conservation grants; and produces speleo-educational seminars and social events for our members. We host an annual business meeting each fall and sponsor occasional educational seminars. Our publication, the Western Caver, is included in membership dues. Membership includes NSS grottos and individual cavers across California, Oregon, Nevada, and Washington.

If you are a member of a grotto, or better yet, a full member of the NSS, we'd like to invite you to join the Western Region, or if you are already or were previously a member, to renew your membership. Dues are $10 for regular members and one dollar for additional family members at the same address. Our dues cycle matches the calendar year. Family members do not receive the Western Caver.
